

"We Are Americans and Will Obey the Law," Says Mr. Lewis

MINE WORKERS DECIDE AT 10 O'CLOCK TODAY TO OBEY MANDATE OF THE FEDERAL COURT AND CALL OFF THE NATION-WIDE COAL STRIKE.

By the Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—An order calling off the nation-wide bituminous coal strike, was to be issued today, following the decision of the general committee of the United Mine Workers of America early this morning to obey the mandate of United States Judge A. B. Anderson, issued here last Saturday. The general committee composed of International officers, district presidents and members of the executive board reached its decision at 4:10 o'clock this afternoon.

"Gentlemen, we will comply with the mandate of the court. We do it under protest. We are Americans. We cannot fight our government. That is all."

This was the statement of John L. Lewis, acting president of the Mine Workers, announcing the decision, and other members of the conference apparently worn out by their long hours of discussion, declined to add to the statement of their chief and soon dispersed.

The general committee had been in session since shortly after 10 o'clock yesterday morning, taking only a brief period for lunch and dinner. The proceedings were interrupted during the afternoon session by the appearance of United States Marshal Mark Storn, and his deputies who served thirty-three of the officials with copies of the temporary injunction issued Saturday and returnable December 1.

The recall of the strike order will open the way immediately for a resumption of the negotiations between miners and operators, as the operators have announced they would be ready to consider a new wage agreement any time the strike order was withdrawn.

It is also understood that the matter of arbitration entered largely into the discussion in the final decision of the meeting, but the miners' and operators' opinion on this was not announced.

The question of just how many of the coal diggers would obey the order, calling off the strike, was problematical today.

HELL WAS POPPING JUST ONE YEAR AGO

ARMISTICE DAY
"LEST WE FORGET"

EVERY AMERICAN GUN WAS WORKING WHEN HOUR CAME TO TERMINATE THE STRUGGLE.

By the Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 11.—With armistice day celebrations being held in many towns and cities through the Middle West today, former service men are retelling their experiences of a year ago when they were "in the thick of it." Many of them had what they termed "their closest calls" in the last hours of the fighting, and many lost their "buddies" but a few minutes before the hostilities ceased.

Members of the 89th division, which included in its ranks men from Nebraska, Missouri, South Dakota, Kansas, Colorado, New Mexico and Arizona, were heavily engaged by the enemy up to the final minutes of activities. The night of November 10 the division made a crossing of the Meuse River at the town of Foully, in the vicinity of Stenay. A combat liaison battalion and a machine gun company, under orders of the 2nd division, were preparing to cross the river when they were caught under a heavy concentration of artillery fire and suffered heavy casualties.

Troops of both the 89th and the 90th divisions entered the city of Stenay, on the east side of the Meuse river, only an hour before the armistice became effective. They crossed the river on a footbridge which the Germans had neglected to destroy, former service men said. "It was about a quarter to eleven," remarked a former 89th division man, "when a German long-range shell dropped in the midst of our detachment as we rested, near an old saw mill in the vicinity of Beaumont. That shell killed eight or nine and wounded about thirty. In fifteen minutes the war was over."

"That night was terrible," observed another Middle West Division soldier. "All night long the Germans concentrated their artillery on a hill where we were located and swept it from side to side and from the bottom to the top. We dodged from shell hole to shell hole, with pieces of shrapnel and high explosive screaming through the air. Often as I lay in a shallow hole with part of my body showing above the level of the ground, a shell would pass so near that I could feel the heat from it, like the breath from a furnace door. The explosion of the shell would lift me from the ground and I would be partly buried by the falling stocks, stones and debris."

"My buddy," and here a soft, far-away expression came into the eyes of the veteran of the St. Mihiel and Argonne, "got separated from me that night. We had moved farther down the hill about dusk and later he had to return to our former position to look after some rations. The crest of the hill was shelled furiously. Everywhere there were smoking shell holes and ghastly craters, for the German was using heavy artillery that night. The smoke of battle hung heavy over the water-soaked ground. The momentary flash of bursting shells painted on the mind little pictures of waste, and destruction, of tangled trees, smoking shell craters and gas-filled hollows. One shell wounded a man and partially buried him in the hole where he was seeking shelter, and it was his cry for aid that my buddy answered. Another shell dropped close at hand and the man with whom I had fought for months was mortally wounded. They carried him down a narrow path through the woods to a dressing station a mile or more away and several days later I heard of his death."

Numerous incidents were related by former service men who wear wound stripes on their uniforms of going through months of fighting without a scratch, only to be wounded during the last few minutes or hours. One said he had been at his machine gun all night without being hit but was severely wounded by a piece of shrapnel as he was on his way to the "ration dump" to get some breakfast the morning of the 11th. Another told of losing an arm within a half hour of the cessation of hostilities.

How the first news of the armistice was received by his organization was related by a former machine gun sergeant. They had a field telephone located in a hole in the ground and it was connected with the battalion headquarters, some distance of the rear. It was about 10:15 the morning of the 11th he said, when the telephone rang and they received the news of the armistice. He himself copied down the message as it was repeated by a lieutenant and he said that at first he thought he was receiving a message in code, for he could not believe the words he was writing. Runners were at once sent to all the guns with instructions to cease firing a few minutes before 11 o'clock. At the time, the former sergeant added, they were being heavily shelled by enemy artillery.

BERGER UNSEATED BY VOTE OF CONGRESS

By News' Special Service

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Victor L. Berger, Milwaukee socialist, was denied his seat in the house today by an overwhelming vote, the house holding he was ineligible for membership because of his open opposition to war.

The vote to unseat Berger was 309 to 1. Representative Voght, republican, Wisconsin, being the only member to support the Wisconsin socialist either in the debate or on the roll call.

After denying the seat to Berger the house declared that the seat was vacant, holding that Joseph P. Carney, democrat, who contested Berger's election, did not receive a plurality in the election last year. Without a record vote the house also directed Speaker Gillette to notify the Wisconsin governor of the vacancy in the state delegation so that a special election may be called to choose a new member.

Special Election Will be Called
MILWAUKEE, Nov. 10.—Gov. E. L. Phillips of Wisconsin, when notified tonight of Victor Berger's expulsion from congress, announced he would call a special election within a few days to fill the vacancy.

STRIKE WITHDRAWN AND IS CANCELLED

SUCH IS MESSAGE OF UNION HEADS TO MINE WORKERS THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY TODAY.

By the Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 11.—"To the officials and members of the United Mine Workers of America:

"Dear Sirs and Brothers: "In obedience to the mandate issued on Nov. 8, by the United States Court, District of Indiana, Judge A. B. Anderson presiding, the undersigned hereby advise you that the order of Oct. 15 directing a cessation of operations in the bituminous coal fields of our jurisdiction is withdrawn and cancelled. Yours fraternally,

"Signed. William Green, Secretary-Treas.
John L. Lewis, Acting President."

The main points of the miners' demands included a sixty per cent increase in wages, a six hour day from bank to bank, a five day week and time and a half for overtime on Sundays and legal holidays. The joint wage conference of the operators and miners met in Philadelphia Oct. 9 and adjourned Oct. 11, failing to reach an agreement. The call for (Continued on Page 5.)

JOHN BULL AFTER JITNEY PROFITEERS

By the Associated Press

LONDON, Oct. 17.—A determined effort to break up profiteering in automobiles is being made by the British Motor Trades Association and the Motor Agents' Union. Heavy fines have been imposed in cases where agents have advanced the prices fixed by the manufacturers. If the dealer refuses to pay the fine, he is cut off from all source of replenishing his stock.

Another form of profiteering in cars is often encouraged. It is said, by the private automobilist. On receiving a new car, the owner in a number of reported cases has re-sold it to a second-hand dealer and pocketed an immediate profit of $500 or more. Such is the demand for cars, that the second-hand dealer has no difficulty in disposing of the automobile at another $500 profit for himself.

Owing to the shortage of cars, every dealer has a long list of expectant purchasers and attempts have been made to bribe the salesmen to shift the names of waiting customers from the bottom to the top of the list. In one instance reported to the Motor Agents' Union, the bribe offered a salesman was $750.

Why Advertised Institutions Succeed

When a store advertises judiciously, it attracts public attention and it increases its business. But the increase of receipts is not usually equalled by a corresponding increase of expense. Most stores could double their business without doubling the number of clerks, or doubling their rent, light, heat, and other charges.

Consequently the charge per article for this so-called "overhead" expense, keeps decreasing as the business grows. If receipts double, and costs of doing business increase only 50 per cent, it is manifest that the overhead cost for each article sold is proportionately less. As volume of business increases, the business is more economically done, and the cost of moving each separate article is reduced. The public gets the difference in lower prices.

PROFUSION OF FEATHERS IS DOMINANT NOTE ON SMALL HATS OF NEW SEASON

By ELOISE.

There is a great tendency on the part of milliners today to use feathers, wings of flues and such ornaments in an extraordinary manner. It may be difficult for women to wear some of these sensational trimmings, but they do not hesitate to try it. Nothing in the way of trimming can be commonplace. If it is, the hat is a colorful thing which will be found only on the bargain counters. There must be a comet of feathers dashing across the circumference of a turban, or an eccentric brim to the small hat, or sprays of flues leaping into the air at curious angles from unexpected places.

The use of these unusual trimming effects makes the small hat a thing of limitless possibilities, according to the milliners. It looks as though it will never be displaced from its position of prominence in the fashion world. There is nothing more distinguished than a small head above furs and a street frock. Feathers form the most favored turban of a midnight blue velvet trimmed with a great profusion of henna colored cassowary feathers. The small brimmed hat on the right is of black velvet with motifs of black velvet piped in blue and outlined with pale blue uncured ostrich. These hats are smart and youthful at the same time and show but two of the season's fetching modes.

South America Wonderland Writes William H. Murray After Trip Thru Continent

BY WILLIAM H. MURRAY.
("Altala Bill.")

SOUTH AMERICA—WHAT IS IT?
TISHOMINGO, Nov. 8.—Our ignorance of the South American countries is as dense as their ignorance of North America. Few people realize that South America is more than a stretch of country. It has eleven nations, ten of which are republics, and one of these, Brazil, is larger than the United States, several are half as large, and Bolivia is three times as large as Texas.

South America is a continent stretching from some 15 degrees north of the equator to 63 degrees south of it, a total of 78 degrees, north and south latitudes, a distance of 5,000 miles, or more than one-fifth of the entire circumference of the earth. It has all the mountain elevations, heat and cold and other climatic conditions to be found in the world.

Climate is Varied.

Bolivia has towns where one cannot put on enough clothes to sweat and other towns where one sweats off all the clothes he attempts to put on. Few people know that it has deserts, one of them 3,000 miles long, and places where it rains 14 to 18 feet of water a year every year, and that in the north it has Lake Trinidad, which is pure asphalt.

Chile and Peru have the finest beds of nitrate and guano fertilizer in the world. Bolivia has a deposit of pure sulphur, several deposits of pure salt, a lake of pure borax, and tin mines 90 per cent pure, the largest to be found.

On the boundary of Peru and Bolivia is the largest elevated body of navigable water in the world, Lake Titicaca, two and one-half miles high, 500 feet deep, 169 miles long, always cold, and the water will not rust anything, not even iron. The steamship Inca which is upon it is as large as many of the ships on the Pacific ocean.

Mineral Wealth Great.

The museum at Madrid, Spain, has a gold nugget, the largest in the world, which weighs 50½ pounds. I saw one at La Paz, which weighed 15 pounds. In Potosi, Bolivia, is a silver mine opened in 1545, and a mint established there in 1562, and both mine and mint are still in operation.

A Brazil slave woman found a diamond which her master sold for a million dollars.

Central South America has the largest river in the world, the Amazon. Its flood of water can be traced for hundreds of miles in the ocean. It has half a dozen tributaries larger than the Mississippi. The climate in the north and east of Central South America is moist and hot, with polidian fever awaiting the traveler, throughout the interior of which only a Roosevelt would undertake a journey.

South of the Amazon valley, however, are less malaria and unhealthy spots than in our own country. It has six of the most elevated railroads in the world, which start at sea level and climb the mountains, winding through passes more than 1,000 feet higher than Pike's Peak. These for the most part were constructed by William Wheelwright and Henry Meggs, two Americans.

Oil Fields Vast.

It has vast undeveloped oil fields, where oil springs out of the ground, forming springs and rivulets similar to those found in Columbia in the north, Ecuador and Peru in the central and in central Bolivia in the south part of the continent. This is only awaiting transportation lines and American money and skill, for our buttons of commerce grow on trees in this country.

Here is the source of our rubber and of half the coffee in the world. The soils of South America are rich and organic, far more so than our own continent.

We are most ignorant on the climate of South America. Few know that on the equator, where your shadow is between your feet, on the Pacific side one is compelled to sleep under heavy blankets every night of the year, while on the Atlantic side it is so hot every night of the year that one can scarcely sleep. You have heard of the latter, but not of the former. I experienced it. When we had sailed two days south of the equator, I put on my woollens and winter clothing—and yet a little interior from that place is the home of the Panama hats.

Vegetation Proliferous.

Ask no man about South America as a whole. Pick out a given spot and ask him about that particular place. The continent is so vast, so wonderful, so unlike anything you ever saw, that no man is capable of thinking of it all at once.

It has a tuber called the bread plant which proves to be a good bread substitute. One priest states that he ate no other bread for eight years. The finest cabinet woods are found in the forests of Brazil, Bolivia and Paraguay. These can show exhibits of a thousand varieties of wood, ten of these being so heavy they will not float on water. There are 410 varieties of the palm, the vinegar palm, the cabbage palm, the holy palm and on to the end of the list, all helpful and none harmful to man.

The only real trouble with South America is that she is too rich. Nature in the vegetable kingdom has provided too lavishly its bounty. In some sections even the bees store no honey, living in an eternal summer in the midst of an everlasting wilderness of fragrant blooms. The primary purpose of the Creator in making the bee was to aid in the pollination of flowers, and it is too busy with this stupendous task to waste any time in storing useless honey.

While revolution is fomenting in some of these countries, like it does in Mexico, there are three, Bolivia, Brazil and Argentina, which have had less war than the United States. One tribe of Indians down in the tropics pays its government $300,000 annually for the privilege of enforcing prohibition in the domain of the tribe.

The timber belts have various insects with which our people are not familiar, and some, such as ticks, to which we are accustomed. The prairies have few or no ticks, and the pests here are ants, which may be eradicated, as the government proved in the canal zone, mosquitoes, which are bad in the rainy season, and near water holes, and "screw worm" flies, which also appear in rainy weather. This is the same fly found in West Texas during the summer.

Crop pests consist only of locusts and grasshoppers, which are hatched in the semi-desert sections of the Grand Chaco and travel east. Crops never seem to suffer from any other pests.

Indians are Laborers.
The people of Bolivia consist of about one-third white, mostly Spanish, but English and American are found in all settled sections. The customs and ways of the Spanish are different from ours—some are more sensible, others less so. The other two-thirds of the population are Indians.

The Indians are the laborers and make all manner of things. The unskilled work for 50 cents to $1 a day, while skilled carpenters, silversmiths and others work for from $1.50 to $2.50 a day. There are plenty of laborers.

These Indians are unlike the North American Indians in that they are servile, humble as an old-time negro, and always at work except on days of the "fiesta," a religious celebration. They are also unlike the Mexican Indian type in that they have no resentment against cruel treatment. If the master strikes them, as I have seen them, he will say, "It is my fault." He will stand it as he can and then steal away, carrying no grudge or hate with him. This disposition of the Bolivian peon is doubtless the explanation of the peaceful political conditions, while revolutions are plotted in other countries north of them.

MONUMENT TO CORPORAL KILLED IN FRANCE

By the Associated Press.

EMPORIA, Kan., Nov. 11.—A monument has been erected in Maplewood Cemetery here by Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Lucas in honor of their grandson, Corp. Lee A. Grubbs, who was killed in action in France in October, 1918. Mr. and Mrs. Lucas have been informed by the war department that the body of Corporal Grubbs will be sent home and it will be placed beneath the newly erected monument.

Surmounting the granite base of the monument is an 18-inch statue of a soldier, standing at parade rest. It was modeled by a Chicago artist to resemble a photograph of young Grubbs. The inscription reads: "In memory of Cpl. Lee A. Grubbs, Company C, 353rd Infantry, 89th Division, Killed in Action October 21, 1918, Bantheville Wood, 1896-1918."

JAYHAWKERS ARE CELEBRATING TODAY

TOPEKA, Kan., Nov. 11.—In practically every city and town in the state some form of celebration is set for today in commemoration of the signing of the armistice, one year ago. In response to Governor Henry J. Allen's proclamation that the day be observed as an official holiday, business houses and public houses in many cities will be closed this afternoon to permit employees to participate in the celebration.

The form of celebration covers a wide range, but nearly all include a parade in which the ex-service men of each respective community or county are to appear in uniform. In some cities the street parades are to include floats with prizes offered for the most striking design, sections of the parades being allotted to individuals and firms, lodges, churches, schools and other organizations. For the day, orators are in great demand. Some celebrations include auditorium exercises in the afternoon, some in the evening, but nearly all are scheduled to wind up with a ball.

The day recalls the scenes in every community a year ago today when business affairs appeared to be a secondary matter with hundreds of men and women deserting jobs to join in the hilarious parades in the main streets. School children left their books, and in most cities, school was dismissed for the day. The signing of the armistice was first flashed over the wires, both telegraph and telephone in Kansas by The Associated Press about 1 a. m., and almost simultaneously whistles were started blowing, bells ringing and all imaginable forms of noise making devices put in operation, in all the cities reached by the Associated Press news service. Long before daylight crowds were on the streets forming parades and spreading the glad tidings.

ARKANSAS TEACHING ART OF AGRICULTURE

By the Associated Press.

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Nov. 11.—Elementary agriculture will be taught in the rural schools of Arkansas, according to a triangular agreement recently reached between E. H. Shinn, representing the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the College of Agriculture of the University of Arkansas and the Arkansas Department of Education.

A uniform course of study will be followed in every school giving the work. The course of study is being worked out by the members of the faculty of the Arkansas College of Agriculture and Mr. Shinn, and when complete will be printed by the State Department of Education and ready for use in the sixth, seventh, and eighth grades of the state. Only instruction concerning farm products raised in this state will be included in the work. The object of the course will be to give the pupils a firm basic knowledge of the agriculture of their own state.

Students who take the grade school courses will be fitted to enter the Smith-Hughes work in the high schools of the state or enter one of the secondary agricultural schools, of which there are five in Arkansas. The course will be printed and ready for use by the beginning of the fall term of 1920.

CLAUDE WEAVER TO GET OLD JOB BACK IS REPORT

By News' Special Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Even though he was defeated for congress and despite the fact that his resignation had no strings attached, Claude Weaver, Oklahoma City's postmaster, can keep his job if he wants it.

This was made clear at the post-office department yesterday. His resignation has not been accepted, nor will it be unless he requests it.

The post office department "intends to be guided by his wishes."

It was explained at P. M. Gen. Burleson's office that the department "would be reluctant to accept the resignation if Weaver can be induced to serve." Then it was added:

"Weaver has made a splendid postmaster and it would be hard to fill his place as satisfactorily."

Oklahoma congressmen recalled today that Weaver's appointment was personal with the postmaster general. He and Burleson are long time friends, having attended the same school.

When Weaver was retiring from congress, after having served state at large, Burleson decided to give the Oklahoma City plum to him.

Indications are the other congressmen will keep hands off. They will permit the issue to be decided by Weaver and Burleson and will make no recommendations.

IN damp, chilly weather there is always a large demand for BALDWIN'S SNOW LINIMENT because many people who know by experience its great relieving power in rheumatic aches and pains, prepare to apply it at the first twinge. Sold by Bart Smith.

RED CROSS DRIVE MAY BE EXTENDED SAYS CHAIRMAN

By News' Special Service.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 11.—State Red Cross Chairman J. F. Owens Monday wired county chairmen to use their own judgment in concluding the Red Cross drive Tuesday night or continuing it as long as necessary—up to 10 days.

Total members obtained in the state are little more than 200,000 on a quota of 1,001,000.

Rainy weather and bad roads have made work in rural districts absolutely impossible and have hindered work in towns.

In Oklahoma county the rain killed the "mop-up" drive planned for Sunday by the American legion.

The Most Welcome Tire That Ever Came to Market

Men Who Appreciate Superlative Values Prefer The Brunswick

In every great tire factory, the chief question is: "How much can we give for the money?" And the product depends on the policy adopted.

Every man who has become acquainted with Brunswick Tires knows that Brunswick standards are again evident. This famous concern—noted as a leader in every line it entered since 1845—has once more proved that its policy is right.

A perfect tire is simply a matter of knowledge and standards and skill. No secrets nor patents prevent making an ideal tire.

But standards come first. For in tire making there is vast room for skimping, for subtle economies, for hidden shortcomings. Makers without the highest standards don't build high-grade tires.

The Brunswick organization of tire makers includes a brilliant staff of technical experts. Not a man among them has spent less than 20 years in handling rubber.

Each is a master of his craft. And the new ideas they bring to the attention of Brunswick directors receive sincere consideration. Every proved betterment is adopted unanimously.

The Brunswick Tire is a combination of acknowledged features—plus Brunswick standards of manufacture.

The result is a super-tire, the like of which you have never known before. The kind of a tire you will gladly join in welcoming.

Yet Brunswicks cost no more than like-type tires.

Try ONE Brunswick. We promise a surprise. And we feel certain that you will want ALL Brunswicks.

Then good tires will have a new meaning to you.

HAS FOUND A SURE WAY OF AVOIDING CHILLS AND AGUE

TAKES SWAMP CHILL AND FEVER TONIC BEFORE DIS-EASE GETS HOLD OF SYSTEM.

Mr. John Glasco of Dierks, Ark., has the right idea on avoiding malaria and similar ailments. He always keeps a bottle of Swamp Chill and Fever Tonic on hand, and begins taking it before the disease has time to get going. He says he uses it for all stomach disorders, too.

Other sufferers from malaria, ague, etc., are equally as hearty in their praise of Swamp Chill and Fever Tonic. And many others find it just as effective for colds and grippe as it is for chills and fever.

It seldom takes more than three days to break up malaria chills with Swamp Chill and Fever Tonic. And no purgative has to be taken with it—the tonic itself acts gently and agreeably upon the liver and bowels. It contains no calomel, and is tasteless and pleasant to take.

For over twenty years Swamp Chill Tonic has been the favorite prescription of a great many physicians. They endorse it because they know it is good.

Sold by all dealers—60 cents a bottle.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

THE RAINBOW'S VISIT.

"Come along, my lovely children," said the rainbow, "and remember to wear your best clothes for we're calling on no less famous people than the king of the clouds and the good old Mr. Sun."

So the rainbow children dressed up in their best clothes.

Some of them were green and some of them were pink and some of them were blue and some of them wore different shades of the same color.

Then they went forth, and the ones who were dressed alike all stood together, and those who were dressed in different shades of the same color stood at the end of a row.

And they all said together:

"Mother Rainbow, will we do?"

"Ah, yes, my beautiful ones," said Mother Rainbow. "You rejoice my heart. We will call on our friends at once. Let us start."

So they knocked on the top of a mountain, and they said: "Hello, anyone out?"

Of course they wouldn't ask if anyone was in, for they weren't going in anywhere—they were going out! And they wanted to stay out.

Mr. Sun came peeping behind the array of raindrops who are the children of the king of the clouds and he said:

"Hello, beautiful rainbow, and all your beautiful children! How lovely they all look in their exquisite, perfect frocks. Ah, I am so glad to see them."

"We wanted to see if the lake was receiving callers today, too," Mother

"Knocked on the Top of a Mountain."

Rainbow said. "We have come first of all to call on you, Mr. Sun and on the king of the clouds, but we would like, we think, to pay a call on the lake, too."

"We had no sooner knocked to see if you were all out from the top of the mountain than you appeared."

"The lake would love to see you," said Mr. Sun. "Do pay it a visit."

So Mother Rainbow and her children bent down until they touched the lake and they rested on the lake, and they said:

"Lovely, cool water which in the summer rests those who are weary and warm and refreshing, we greet you. And lovely lake, which gives water to people to drink, we salute you."

"And lake which freezes so children can skate and be jolly and happy in the winter, we honor you."

"Lake, which gives ice so that in the summer it can keep things cold, we think so much of you."

Some of the rainbow children were playing with some of the cloud fairies at the top of the mountain while others were whispering secrets to the hills and to the trees over which they were bending, but down into the water, right along the surface, Mother Rainbow and just a few of her children were talking to the lake.

And the lake's face rippled and smiled, and then a little wave and another came over the lake's face, until it laughed in its lovely fashion.

"Oh rainbow," it said, "I am so glad you came to call on me, and didn't call on the trees and the hills alone."

"I love to see the colors of the autumn look down at me and all the photographers known as the Reflection Brothers for they reflect the beautiful pictures rather than photograph them are about making lovely pictures for me."

"Of course they don't last, but that doesn't matter when they are so beautiful and when for a time one can see them. And they will come again—the beautiful things to have their pictures taken."

"So I see a great deal that is beautiful; but this is the greatest honor of all."

"To think of you bending down and calling on me!"

Mother Rainbow smiled, a beautiful, radiant smile, and the sun beamed and glistened in the light of Mr. Sun, and Mother rainbow said:

"How I love you all, my dear good friends, and though I don't see you so often I love you very much. My visits to the earth are very happy ones, and very beautiful ones. But before I leave, for I have another engagement, I want to kiss the lovely lake."

And Mother Rainbow bent lower still and kissed the beautiful blue-gray water.

Where Tail Pointed To.

"Now children, if a donkey's head was looking south, where would its tail point to?"

"To the ground, sir."

MRS. J. W. BINKLEY GAINS 22 POUNDS TAKING TANLAC

"I gained twenty-two pounds by taking Tanlac and am a well woman today," said Mrs. J. W. Binkley, of 5104 Illinois Ave., West Nashville, Tenn.

"I suffered terribly the past eighteen years," she continued, "and my stomach was in such an awful condition that I had to live on the lightest kind of diet. Even milk would disagree with me and form gas that would keep me in misery for hours. I had little strength left, and although I tried the best of medicines and treatments I just kept going down hill and suffering agonies till at last I was told my only hope lay in an operation."

"A friend of my husband's persuaded him to get me some Tanlac and it has not only saved me from an operation but I have gained in every way. I can eat anything I want without suffering afterwards and am feeling just fine. I shall always praise Tanlac for restoring my health and wish everybody knew about this wonderful medicine."

Oklahoma Boom

Town Has Gone

From Existence

FORT WORTH, Tex., Nov. 10.—Where thousands once thrived exist today in Meers, the "Ghost town of Oklahoma."

Drawn by news of a copper strike a fresh and eager population poured into Meers overnight. Then it dwindled away almost as quickly.

The six inhabitants of Meers now are: Al McMasters, postmaster and storekeeper; T. J. Goss, retired merchant and miner; Miss Jennie Goss, sister of Goss; Herbert Hodge and wife and their son, Paul. Hodge came to Meers a prospector, but he remained to become a farmer.

Meers' glory began to wane in 1902. Now the six survivors of the boom days say they are not eager for their return again for they like the seclusion and quiet of their retreat at the foot of Mount Sheridan.

One hundred yards to the south-west of the Meers postoffice stands the silent relic of what was once a busy mine. It was one of the most pretentious tests of the district. This was known as the Grindstone Mine, where much work was done on the strength of assay reports showing that the hole was producing copper ore averaging $72 per ton. When suddenly it became known that the product of the shaft was worthless, the name was changed to "The Lost Horse Mine" overnight.

The boom and building of Meers began when an aged prospector named Hale found a vein of copper. Chunks of it sent away drew the attention of the mining world. They came by train as far as they could, they walked or rode across the plains to Meers. Meers, in a few days, became a town of 1,000, then more. But in the meantime the old prospector decided he wouldn't sell big copper mine.

FREE COUNTY FAIR

FOR PONTOTOC CO.

The free fair law was declared in effect in Pontotoc County yesterday by the county commissioners, who approved the election held last Saturday in the various townships of the county. For Fitzhugh township, which failed to hold an election last Saturday, the commissioner appointed E. S. Kerr and R. J. Pollock to serve as directors.

The following were elected in Saturday's election to serve as directors for their respective townships:

Maxwell—E. W. Cotton and T. B. Bond.

Midland—R. W. Small and H. H. Barnes.

Stonewall—S. B. Mayfield and J. W. Denton.

Allen—D. A. Crumley and W. M. Pegg.

Francis—R. F. Wilborne and J. B. Self.

Chickasaw—Joe Rushing and J. R. Floyd.

The newly elected directors are called to meet in Ada on the second Monday in December for the purpose of organizing and electing officers. A permanent president and secretary are to be elected. Steps will be taken to prepare for a free county fair to be held sometime during the month of September, 1920. The money available under the free fair law, which provides for a levy of one-fourth mill, will provide some thing like $3,500 for fair purposes—a sum that is believed sufficient to give this county one of the best county fairs in the state.

M'ADAMS QUILTS SENATORIAL RACE

TAKES SHOT AT BEN LAFAYETTE FOR SELECTING SCOTT FERRIS FOR THE DEMO. NOMINATION.

By News' Special Service

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 11.—The U. S. Senatorial race on the democratic side was reduced to three contestants Monday when E. G. McAdams, Oklahoma City attorney, announced his withdrawal.

The three remaining are T. P. Gore, Scott Ferris and Prince Freeling.

McAdams, in his statement of withdrawal, takes a rap at Ben Lafayette, chairman of the democratic state central committee, declaring that the chairman has already selected a man, seeking to "leave the impression that no one else has a right to enter or remain in the contest."

The man referred to is Scott Ferris.

McAdams' statement says:

"When I announced as a candidate for the U. S. senate, I did so in good faith and with full intentions of remaining in the race to the end, believing that my past services to the party as a private citizen entitled me to aspire to this high and honorable position, and to go before the people on my own merit unhampered, without interference on the part of the democratic organization."

"Since announcing my candidacy, however, the chairman of the democratic organization, with headquarters in the Skirvin Hotel, has announced for the first time in the history of the state, and so far as I know, the first state so to announce, that the party of which he is at the head has selected the man for the democratic nominee and seeks to leave the impression that no one else, has a right to enter or remain in the contest when it is his choice that another should be selected."

"I believed when I announced that I could win, and believe now that I can win, but in order to do so I would be compelled to make a campaign, and raise such issues that would, in my judgment, be to the detriment of the democratic party, and holding the democratic party as I do, above any personal ambitions that I may have, I have decided in the interest of the party to withdraw from the race with the hope that the rank and file of the party will see that in the future the democratic organization is organized for the sole purpose of fighting the republicans and not democrats in the primaries."

While McAdams' statement does not put him on record as to who will get his personal support it is assumed from the tone of the document that Ferris will not be the one. He said he would have an announcement later on the subject.

MUSKOGEE LEADS WHOLE STATE IN RED CROSS DRIVE

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Nov. 11.—With the enviable record of holding first honors in the state for the amount of her quota so far obtained Muskogee's Third Red Cross roll call drive has almost reached its climax, with the hundreds of workers having nearly all "checked up."

Reports from over the country, which will not be complete for several days yet, show that in many cases the rural districts literally broke all records in their results. Wraner, which had a quota of $225, had reached $270 Sunday. A number of other towns did almost as well.

Though no definite check could be made here today, it was generally conceded that this year's drive bettered last year's roll call. Eight thousand members were enrolled in the city at that time, and little doubt is felt here as to the ability of the city to reach that amount when the final returns come in.

This year's allotment of quotas was based on the First Roll Call when the war was at its height, and when several million service men in arms called for a war-time enthusiasm and necessity.

Although the necessity for the Red Cross is still in existence, the enthusiasm in the cause has somewhat lessened. Local campaigners, however, point out that next year's drive should exceed them all, because the people will be more interested in the work then and will know more about it.

Oklahoma City is the only district so far that has gone ahead of Muskogee in actual results, although a number of cities had quotas equally or almost as large.

Armistice day will be marked with a continued sale of membership buttons, and tomorrow is expected to nearly put across the remaining amount to be secured.

THE DAY AFTER THE RAIN

Five hours of wet weather will give the average American rheumatism of the brain, but when that five hours is stretched out over five long weeks not only the average American, but any American will be exhibiting unmistakable symptoms of delirium tremens.

Since October broke into the procession of the months the clouds have got in between us and the empyrean and the whole world has been going dead wrong. Every joy became a nuisance and every task a nightmare. Our friends were positive bores without exception, while our enemies were lineal descendants of the prince of evil. Our business was one of the torture processes evolved from the pit and our great and glorious government became overnight the most oppressive and unjust conglomeration since Noah's flood dried up.

But somehow or other the clouds blew away last night and the sun came out this morning like a bridegroom out of his chamber and rejoicing like a strong man to run a race. Already the world has become again a pretty jolly old world. We can greet our friends as we do when returning from a long and pleasant vacation. Our enemies are not so very bad—they mean well at all times, but are just a little unfortunate in their manners and habits. Business is fine, thank you, and the outlook for a prosperous winter season has never been better. As for our government it is the best that ever rose out of the chaos of history in all the tides of time.

All that we need as the years roll on is sunlight. The golden rays come down from the bright places above, and bathing hillside and valley with the radiance of glory, sink down into the gloom of our fallen and traitor lives and make us better men and women. No wonder the morning stars were singing to the music of the spheres when God said: "Let there be light."

The adoption of the free county fair by the people of Pontotoc county last Saturday is the biggest thing that has happened to this county since we became a citizen of the county. It means that Pontotoc hereafter will have a county fair equal to any in Oklahoma. It means that when a farmer drives his family twenty miles to attend our county fair he will not have to pay out several dollars to get through the gates. It means better farm products, better stock, better fruit, better times, and better people.

We are no expert when it comes to splitting theological hairs, but somehow or other we feel that this old human race of ours owes a great debt to Father Noah for not striking for shorter hours when he was on that Ark job and the high water was approaching.

Governor Robertson in reviewing the big up-set in the Fifth district last Saturday advises the public not to be misled. We don't intend to be again. The next time we bet on anything it is going to be a leadpipe cinch.

We went to bat with our ancient enemy, the Republicans, last Saturday, and, in the language of the immortal Oliver Hazard Perry, we can say: "We have met the enemy and we are hisn."

Those who did their Christmas shopping early are the ones who will enjoy Christmas most—especially those who did their shopping before the first of July.

More money has been spent since the Revolutionary War to get people to go to the polls and vote than was spent in that war winning the right to vote.

And speaking of off-year elections, we can say that for the Democratic party the elections they are having this year are the most off ones we have ever seen.

Eight thousand coal diggers idle about the Oklahoma mines. Two thousand militiamen idle about the Oklahoma mines. "My Country, 'Tis of Thee!"

The principal occupation of United States senators seems to be to make two amendments grow where only one grew before.

In view of the number of presidential aspirants we might Mexicanize the country and have twenty presidents at one time.

FEATHERS ARE ON THE DOWNWARD PATH

BY ELOISE.

Whatever went up in millinery now goes down. Whatever stood out straight from the hat swoops down at an angle of forty-five degrees. Ostrich feathers curl closely against the side of the neck and drop down over the front of the shoulder. Paradise curls its way over the ear and caresses the shoulder blade or the neck and front. Remember this tendency when you're buying or retrimming a hat; it is a mark of the season.

As to the shape of the new hat the majority of women, especially the young ones, prefer the turban that is not neat and trim; they want the crushed fabric that is a compromise between the Blue Devil tan and the more fluted cap of one of the Henry's.

They do not object to it in leather, if the leather is soft enough to crush. They like it in velvet, black or colored. It is worn slightly over one eye and completely covers the head.

Here is a round turban made of sand colored velvet, oddly pleated, which pictures to a nicety the tendency of the new feather trimmings. A rich brown curled ostrich plume is jauntily placed across the top of the hat and let fall in one grand sweep down over milady's ear and cheek and then coyly turn up and tickle her chin. Small hats like these are particularly good taste with the large fur coats of the season.

—Miami News: Might as well eliminate the labor question of the treaty. Labor and peace don't seem to have anything in common, anyway.

The treaty of peace is to become effective the latter part of this month for those nations which have ratified it. The fact that the United States senate admits that it is a great deliberative body, probably means that America must wait awhile before sharing in the treaty's benefits.—Oklahoma City Times.

KINGS' TREASURES SOLD TO FEED POOR

VIENNA, Nov. 11.—The Hapsburgs' centuries-old accumulation of art objects, part of which is to be sold, is estimated to be worth $21,000,000. Paintings, rare manuscripts, Gobelins tapestries, old Oriental porcelain, goldsmith's and silversmith's work by the most famous Florentine jewelers and historical furniture are included. The furniture includes that of the room in Schoenbrunn Castle occupied by Napoleon in 1809.

The purpose of the sale, as announced, is to create a fund from which the poor may be fed for a time. All will not be sold, but enough so it will be the greatest sale in the history of artistic auctions. The peace conference ruled these were the property of Austria.

The food that is rationed to the public now costs 6,000,000,000 crowns, and Austria is almost entirely without credit. It is believed that the returns from the art auction will raise at least a portion of one year's supplies.

The Gobelins tapestries from the Schoenbrunn Castle of the late Emperor Franz Josef alone are valued at 2,000,000,000 crowns. Other articles to be sold include the treasures of the Hofkassakammer (court table chamber) including the magnificent services of pure gold and comprising many hundred pieces, the work of masters in gold work. They were used by Franz Josef only on very special state occasions.

The question, how the sale is to be arranged, in order to get as much money as possible, has not yet been decided. First there must be an understanding with the Entente missions since important sales of state property cannot be made without their permission. The favorite plan however, if it is possible, is to place the articles at a public auction, the most unusual the world of art has ever seen. In that case the auction would probably take place in London rather than Vienna, for it is the center of art auctions for the world, and easier to reach than Vienna.

Pontotoc Will Be Represented In State Exhibit

Some of the prize agricultural products of Pontotoc County will be among the exhibits on display in the state capitol at Oklahoma City. In response to an appeal from President J. A. Whitehurst of the state board of agriculture, who is making a collection of the best products of the state for permanent exhibition, County Agent J. B. Hill has collected some of the best products of this county and will send them to the capitol.

Among the specimens selected is a peck of potatoes from an acre that produced 412 bushels. These potatoes were grown by Frank Mayfield near Stonewall. Other specimens are oats grown by J. J. Belt, wheat grown by W. R. Riddle, barley grown by Bob Eaton, and cotton grown on the W. H. Stevens Seed Farm. Several club exhibits also will be sent to the capitol.

Seeking Union of Two Leading English Churches

LONDON, Oct. 14.—Plans for a reunion of the Church of England and the Wesleyans were announced by the Bishop of London in an address on the "Reunion of Christendom" just delivered in St. Paul's Cathedral. The Bishop supplemented this, to England, startling proposal with the statement that it was certain other churches would want to join them. He believed, he declared, that the time would come when they would be in close association not only with the Churches of Greece, and of Russia, but even with the Church of Rome.

The plan for the reuniting of the two churches was the outgrowth of a two years' conference between the Wesleyans and the Church of England, the Bishop said. Briefly, it would provide that after January 1, 1921, there should be no ordinations in either church which were not considered valid by the other. There would be a bishop with the presbyters at the laying on of hands, and at the end of forty years there would be no Wesleyan minister who would not have been ordained by a bishop of the Church of England. In order to have Wesleyan ministers episcopally ordained at once, twelve presbyters would be consecrated bishops. The Bishop asserted that the Church of England was powerless when the war broke out, because of the divisions of Christendom. It was equally powerless in dealing with the great labor disputes of today. The Church as an organized society, he said, really did not count in any of those great affairs.

MILLION DOLLARS GIVEN TO BAPTIST CAMPAIGN

Wealthy Texas Layman Leaves Bulk of His Estate to Causes Fostered by 75 Million Drive.

Through the will of J. Thomas, wealthy layman of Dallas, Texas, who died recently, the Baptist 75 Million Campaign receives $1,000,000. Dr. L. R. Scarborough, general director, announces. This is not only the largest gift that has been made to the campaign so far, but the largest contribution made to any Baptist cause within the bounds of the Southern Baptist Convention at any time, Dr. Scarborough advises.

Mr. Thomas designated the several causes which will become the recipients of his bounty—the Texas Baptist Memorial Sanitarium at Dallas and the Buckner Orphan's Home near Dallas being the largest beneficiaries.

County Needs Four Dozen More Census Takers

Pontotoc county needs several dozen census enumerators to take the next federal census and must have them. A second examination for the accommodation of prospective enumerators will be held at the Ada postoffice next Tuesday, November 18.

At the recent examination very few applicants appeared. A second call has been issued and it is earnestly hoped that a sufficient number to take the census of the county will appear next Tuesday. It is to be hoped that the census of the county will not be taken by enumerators shipped in here from other counties of other states.

JUDGE ANDERSON IS PLEASED WITH LABOR'S ATTITUDE

By the Associated Press

Indianapolis, Nov. 11.—United States District Judge A. B. Anderson at 10 o'clock this morning approved the order of the officials of the United Mine workers rescinding the strike order of Oct. 15. Attorneys for the miners promised to try to have the order in the mails by six o'clock this evening. Judge Anderson characterized the order as "an effort in good faith" to comply with his mandate. The text of the order follows:

TRI-STATE MINERS ARE ALL LOYAL

Smith today by Peter Stewart, commissioner for the district of the Southwestern Operators' association. Stewart said that this information was given to him by officials of the miners' union.

The Red Ears

Business Men Closed Their Doors at Noon

The business houses of Ada all closed their doors at noon today in honor of Armistice Day. Every thing from a leading department store to a tamale emporium is shut and barred, and the population is observing the first anniversary of the closing day of the war.

Some days ago it was agreed that the city should remain open if this should prove to be a rainy day, thereby providing a place for visitors to get in out of the rain. But as soon as it was seen that today is to be a clear day all the way through, the business men made quick arrangements to close their doors and take part in the world-wide celebration.

NOTED LECTURER AT THE NORMAL SCHOOL

Dr. Byron W. King, President of Oratory, Pittsburgh, Pa., will give a lecture recital at the Normal School Wednesday morning at 9:30. Dr. King is founder and president of the King School of Oratory, the largest school of speaking art in the United States. He is a student, teacher, reader, lecturer, poet, and worker; one who believes in work and lives his profession and art. He knows that to be useful is better than to be handsome. He recites from memory twelve plays from Shakespeare, line for line. He also recites over five thousand poems and sketches. His subjects and programs are varied. He has ten lectures based on Shakespeare, eight on Pedagogy, seven on expression, eight on the Bible, five on literary subjects, ten of miscellaneous character. It will thus be seen that Dr. King has a wonderful range in subject matter.

The Columbus (Ohio) State Journal says: "Professor King has twice entertained the legislators, and is well known here. His work is of the highest class, and he must be heard to be appreciated." Russell Conwell of Philadelphia: "A genius, a man of highest rank in his profession, a king of the platform." Senator Hogg, of Ohio: "I introduce to this Senate a man who has no equal in his profession, who is an orator, scholar and lecturer of the highest rank."

The Normal School is anxious for everybody in Ada to have the opportunity to hear Dr. King, as we believe he will appeal immensely, especially to the thinking part of the people. There will be no admission charged.

ADOPTION OF ARTICLE 10 AMENDMENT SEEMS SURE

By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—With a vote imminent on the foreign relations committee's amendment to Article 10 of the League of Nations covenant, the adoption of which Wilson has charged as a virtuous rejection of the treaty, senate and administration leaders today rallied their forces for a final stand. Unless a break came in the ranks of opponents to the league of nations, adoption of the reservation seemed assured.

HARRELD'S MAJORITY IS REDUCED TO 712 VOTES

By the Associated Press

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 11.—The latest unofficial returns today from 252 out of 263 precincts in the Fifth congressional district, place a majority to J. W. Harreld, republican for congress in Saturday's special election at 712 votes. The votes in return today from 252 precincts gave Claude Weaver, democrat, 10,839 and J. W. Harreld 11,551.

STRIKE WITHDRAWN AND IS CANCELLED

the strike at midnight Oct. 31 was issued by the International Headquarters here Oct. 15.

Then followed unsuccessful efforts of Secretary of Labor Wilson to settle the controversy and later the statement of President Wilson that the strike was unlawful. The strike called remained in effect and a general committee of the mine workers' officials refused to withdraw it, contending it had not the authority to do so. On the same day, Oct. 31, the government took a hand in the controversy and obtained an order restraining the officials of the miners from directing or encouraging the strike which automatically became effective at midnight that night and was responded to by approximately 425,000 union miners.

MCLESTER, Okla., Nov. 11.—Miners in this district today are merely awaiting developments. They will go to work when the order countermanding the strike is received.

Meanwhile the state operation of mines under Governor Robertson's orders continues as if the strike was expected to last indefinitely. Six mines owned by three companies are in operation in this county at present. The total output is about 1000 tons and has been growing daily.

Senator Harrison Loses Himself and Mixes Dates

Most people are able to distinguish the different schoolhouses in Ada, especially after they have been here for several years, but Senator Luther Harrison is an exception to the general run of things. A few days ago the Senator, who for pastime writes editorials for the Ada Evening News, received an invitation to address the students of the Glenwood School this morning, Armistice Day.

In due time the aforesaid Senator set out for the Glenwood school, going apparently in a westerly direction. He seems to have forgotten that the wind had switched to the south during the night and he therefore let his ship float in a northerly direction.

As the hour of eleven came, he stepped into a school building and was met and greeted by the principal in a formal and senatorial fashion and asked to address the students. The speaker said his little speech, touching little of anything and covering almost everything, and sat down. He was then requested to deliver another and additional speech on the Armistice Day, which he did in his customary masterful manner.

After the services were over and the congregation dismissed, the aforementioned Harrison discovered that he had been delivering the address in the Irving School and had not so much as been in the environments of Glenwood. The hour having passed for the burst of oratory at Glenwood, the Senator returned to his menial labors and the students of this school are still in blissful ignorance of what he meant to say.

ARMISTICE DAY IS OBSERVED ALL OVER COUNTRY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The first anniversary of the signing of the armistice, and the ending of hostilities in the world, was observed generally throughout the United States. Governors of nearly a dozen states had proclaimed it a legal holiday, while the president in a public statement called attention to the signing of the armistice on the day. President Wilson in a statement addressed to all Americans declares: "The reflection of armistice day will be filled with solemn praise in the heroism of those who died in the country's service, and with gratitude for victory because of the thing from which it has freed us, and because it has been left to America to show her sympathy with peace and justice in the council of nations."

General Pershing and secretaries Acres and Daniels, also pointed out the statement to America the deep and solemn meaning of the day.

THE RATTLE OF SABRES.

Again we hear the muttering of Mars—this time along the Adriatic. Fiume has been seized by Italian subjects and southern Europe is aflame from Piedmont to the Danube. The Italian forces stand full armed on the frontiers of Jugoslavia, while the latter people, white with wrath, are ready to rush to arms.

Behind the marches of the South Slav country lie millions of kindred people, inhabiting the wastes of Serbia, the mountains of Monte Negro, and the valleys of Thessaly. Beyond these are the Hungarian millions nerved to desperation by famine's fangs and the ravages of Roumanian armies. A hundred thousand soldiers of Ferdinand's nation are already on the march. And beyond all these are the hordes of the Muscovite rabid with the red insanity of unexampled butcheries. A single spark may start a conflagration that will reach from Brindisi to the harbors of Kamchatka.

Another world war or a war covering any considerable portion of the world would almost bring civilization to its end. Yet such a possibility looms large on the horizon of the immediate future. The only power that bears any promise of averting this supreme calamity is the council of Paris, which may by a show of superior force overawe the rabid elements of Latin and Slavic Europe. Such council is being denounced today by half the American senate and the league of nations is held up to contemptuous scorn, yet the only hope the world holds is that the allied nations may by a temporary league be able to avert the threatening storm. Unless the free nations exercise co-operation for peace, now and in the future, the world is headed for the depths.

Six thousand years of mutiny, murder and massacre have demonstrated the inability of nations to maintain the peace of the world. The present system is either productive of wars or cannot prevent them. A league of nations might be a failure—no one can lift the veil of the future and read the story of unborn years. But the league is the only hope and apparently the world's last hope. If not the league, then the deluge.

We agreed with many thousand other citizens of Oklahoma in regretting the attack on Senator Reed at Ardmore, but we regret infinitely more that the governor of this state has seen fit to defend the senator's assailants. It is admitted that of all the men who have made the president's burdens almost unbearable, Reed is the greatest offender. But there is absolutely no defense for those who violated every precept of law and courtesy in assaulting Reed at Ardmore. We believe that the governor has hastily done a very ill advised thing in attempting to justify those violators and has done the state a grave injury by taking the position he has. We further believe that Governor Robertson will soon see that he has committed an error and will finally regret it deeply.

Reed of Missouri was not hurt by the eggs that smeared him at Ardmore Wednesday night. It was Ardmore that got the smear. The entire state of Oklahoma has suffered and every good citizen of the state will condemn the tactics employed by the Ardmore thugs. No matter how much one may censure the dog in the manger policy of the man from Missouri during war times, he is a senator, an American citizen, and has a right to be heard. Those lawless spirits who attacked him have done an evil thing.

Now it develops that Oklahoma and Arizona are the only states that refused to accept federal aid for road building. Oklahoma loses her little six and a half million dollars besides the seven million wasted on dust roads, but we have in cold storage the promise of "something better," which the road opponents swore by the hoof of the wild goat they would give us if the road bonds should be voted down.

Strike orders and company announcements about the big steel mills are issued in nine different languages. No matter what kind of melting apparatus they keep about the big mills they evidently do not keep a melting pot.

There is really no reason for surprise that Senator Reed's expenses in Oklahoma should be paid by the Republicans. They had to be paid and who ought to have paid them unless those who profited most by his visit?

All signs indicate that the Republicans are going to handle this reconstruction in the same highly capable manner that they handled the one of the later sixties.

The State Press

Muskogee Times-Democrat: And there are some persons who smell office-holding plums in the Plumb plan.

Tulsa World: The young man on North Main, after looking over the display of stock in the beauty shop windows, wonders how much of his lady friend's is real.

Tulsa World: The law does some queer things. A Fort Smith man sold bottles of tea marked whisky. It is against the law to sell whisky but for selling tea the fellow was given two years in the penitentiary, while on another charge, for selling real whisky, he was also sentenced to a year in the penitentiary. Of course both convictions were eminently right and in the spirit of the law. The real significance of the incident is in the apparent proof it affords that when any man sets out to tamper with society's intentions he is courting serious trouble.

Okemah Ledger: Our friend, Geo. H. Foster, editor of the Wagoner County Record, tells us in his last issue that he put on some cheap but clean, clothes, and laid away his costly togs to beat old H. C. L., but that in three days only one lady in Wagoner would speak to him on the streets, his ostracism being complete. Desperate and disheartened, he put on his glad rags again, and encouraged by the smiles and nods of the ladies, he immediately ordered a $65 silk underwear suit to further increase his popularity. Good stroke—but what worries us is how are the ladies on the streets to know that George is wearing a $65 silk underwear suit, huh?

If there is a man in either house of the national congress who ought to be retired as unfitted for the place, it is Senator Gore of Oklahoma. If Oklahoma has a man fitted by temperament, character and training to succeed Gore, the man is Scott Ferris, now in the lower house of the congress from this state. Ferris is one man, long a public servant, with whose record we find no fault, whose loyalty and devotion has never been questioned, whose mind is big and broad enough to enable him to intelligently deal with the great questions that must confront a senator and whose character and moral fibre spell courage and right. If the anti-Gore element and it represents a majority of us, will center on Ferris, and see that all the lesser lights keep out of the race, Gore's record of playing to the galleries and lip service will be past history. —Durant News.

MISSOURI LEGION MEN
ASK ADDITIONAL PAY

By the Associated Press

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Oct. 6.—Selection of state headquarters and the matter of asking the state legislature for an additional bonus for all former service men of Missouri are expected to be the two chief subjects at the first state convention of the Missouri commandery of the American Legion, which opened here today. Indications were that five hundred delegates would attend.

Streets and buildings of Jefferson City are decorated in honor of the convention of former service men. The 140th Infantry band is here from Kansas City for the state meeting. The 1,200 service men of Cole county form the local reception committee. Plans for entertaining the visiting delegates include an old-fashioned barbecue.

The delegations from both St. Louis and Kansas City have come to the state meeting determined to secure the state headquarters for their respective city, and a keen fight is expected to be waged on the convention floor.

It is expected that a resolution will be passed by the convention asking the state legislature for an additional bonus of $15 a month for each month in service for all Missouri men who served in the army, navy and marine corps during the war with Germany.

As a result of the drive conducted during the latter part of September, a post of the American Legion has been organized in each of the 114 counties of the state, with several posts in the large cities.

THE B. Y. P. U. RENDERS A SPLENDID PROGRAM
Considering the threatening weather yesterday, we had a splendid day at the First Baptist church. There were 311 in Sunday school and good congregations at the hours of worship.

The pastor preached Sunday morning on the subject, "What is the greatest assurance of salvation," and at night the Senior B. Y. P. U. had charge of the preaching hour and rendered one of the best programs ever given in our church. There were sixty one present, and about ten of them took part on the program, and seats had been reserved for the others.

The building was packed almost to capacity and every one was highly pleased with the way the young people acquitted themselves.

The Four Minute Speakers for the services yesterday, in behalf of the Baptist Seventy-five Million Campaign, were Mr. S. F. Whitman, at the Sunday school, Mr. W. C. Duncan, at the morning service, and Mr. L. A. Ellison, at the night service.

The regular prayer meeting service will be on Wednesday evening at 8:00. We will study together, the fourth chapter of Genesis.—Clyde C. Morris, Pastor.

CLAUDE WEAVER'S
HAT IS IN RING

RESIGNS AS POSTMASTER OF OKLAHOMA CITY TO RUN FOR CONGRESSMAN IN FIFTH DISTRICT.

By News' Special Service

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 5.—Claude Weaver, candidate for the democratic nomination for representative in congress from the Fifth district, yesterday retired as postmaster of Oklahoma City. Weaver's resignation, which was made necessary by his entrance into the congressional race, was forwarded to Postmaster General Burleson several days ago. John L. Graham, assistant postmaster, will act as chief of the office pending the selection of a successor to Weaver.

Weaver's resignation furnished the chief development of importance in the congressional situation during the past week, and precipitates a scramble for the appointment as his successor, which promises to bring out as big a field of starters as the congressional contest itself.

"My resignation was effective today. I will not return to the post-office again as postmaster," said Weaver last night.

It is considered highly probable in political circles that the appointment of a successor to Weaver will be withheld until after the selection of the new congressman so that the wishes of Congressman Thompson's successor may be consulted in the matter.

Weaver opened his campaign at his old home at Pauls Valley yesterday by presiding at the organization of a Weaver for Congress club, composed of 1,200 members who signed the roll of membership.

W. L. Farmer, mayor of Pauls Valley, and law partner of Mr. Thompson at the time of his death, is president and he was also chosen by Weaver as his general campaign manager.

Carr Backs Weaver
Henry M. Carr of Pauls Valley withdrew from the contest early last week in favor of Weaver and is said actively to be backing the former postmaster's candidacy.

Other aspirants for the democratic nomination have been exceptionally active the past week, most of them spending the week out in the district, speech making and getting into personal contact with the voters.

Republican candidates have been no less aggressive and yesterday's gossip developed the fact that John Embury, former county attorney, may enter the race at any time. Amos L. Wilson of Capitol Hill, and J. W. Harrell so far are the only avowed candidates on the republican side. In the last issue of his paper, Wilson pitches his campaign on a platform of opposition to Jake L. Hamon for republican national committeeman.

Jep Knight in Race.
Jep Knight of Wynnewood, member of the state senate, was the only new candidate to come out during the past week for the democratic nomination. Knight, who was in the army, was a candidate against Thompson in the last election and has started an aggressive campaign making a special plea for the soldier vote.

Tuesday is the last day allowed by law for the filing of candidates. Those who have not declared their intention of becoming candidates by that time cannot have their names placed upon the ballot. Filings close ten days before an election.

By the Associated Press

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 6.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, has accepted an invitation to attend the triennial convention of the Episcopal Church, which will open here October 8 and continue for two weeks. Mr. Gompers is one of a number of labor and capital leaders in America invited to address the noon-day open forum gatherings which will be a daily feature of the convention and which will deal with social service.

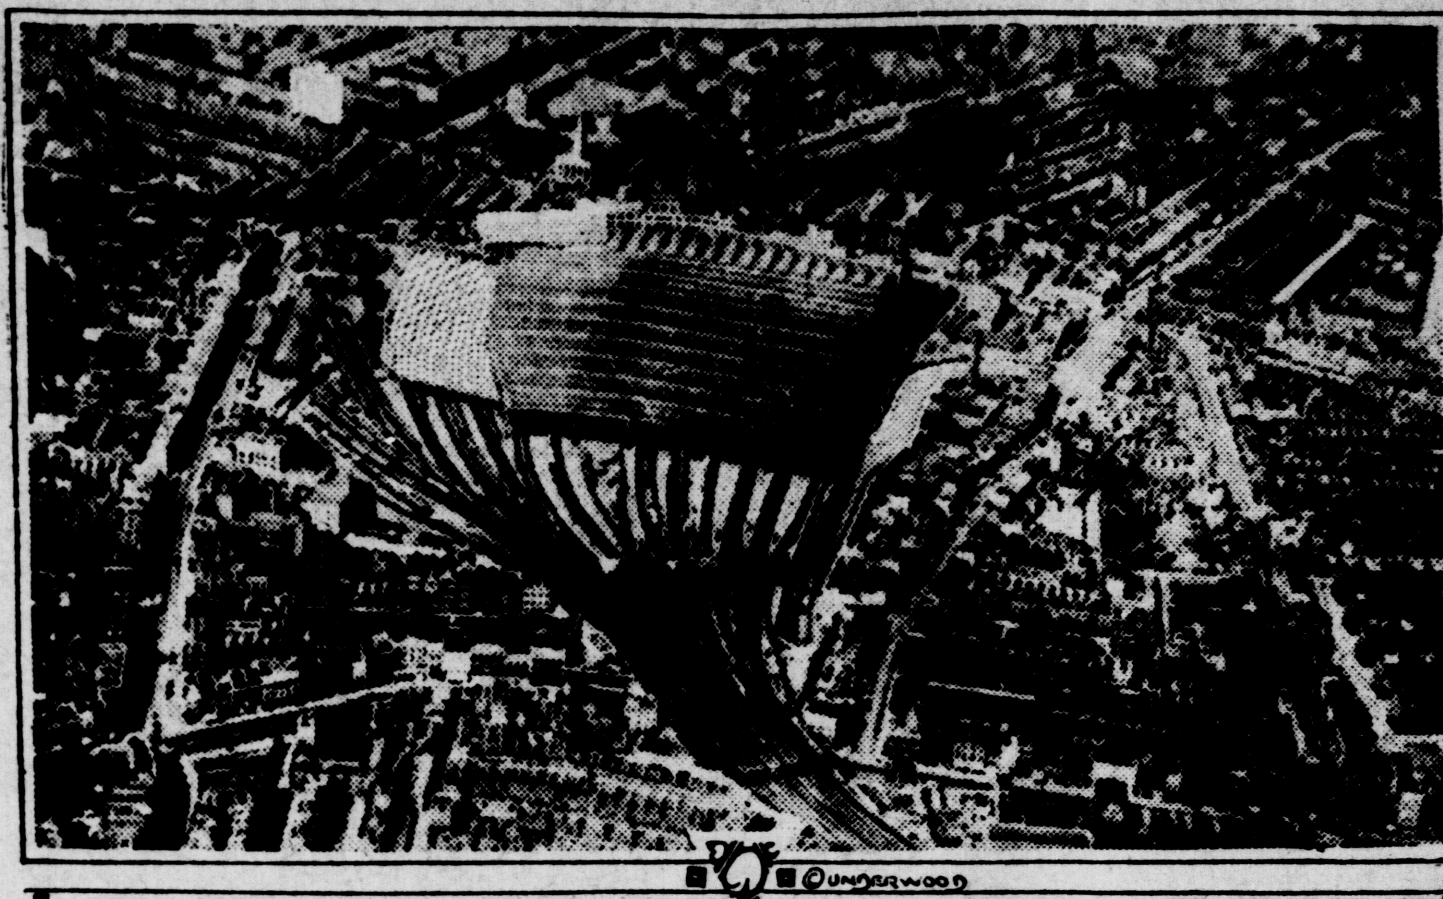

The aim of these meetings will be to bring into closer sympathy capital and labor and the presentation of common problems by leaders on both sides is expected to be one of the most interesting features of the great church meeting.

Miss Mary Van Kleek of the Russell Sage foundation is expected to speak at a mass meeting on social service in its relation to women, her subject being "The New Industrial Position of Women."

Besides these speakers and General John J. Pershing and Vice Admiral Sims, other men of national fame are expected to address meetings of the convention. Among them are listed Rev. Orval A. Petty, chaplain of the base hospital at Bordeaux; Hon. Franklin D. Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy, who will be a lay delegate; Brigadier General Lawrence D. Tyson of Knoxville, Tenn., commander of the 30th division in France, also a delegate; Hon. Bradford Prince, delegate from New Mexico and former governor and chief justice of that state; President Kenneth C. M. Sills of Bowdoin college; President William F. Pierce of Kenyon college and many of the leading bankers and industrial leaders of the country.

CINCINNATI REDS
ARE ALL PUFFED UP

TICKETS FOR TODAY'S GAME IN GREAT DEMAND; SCALPERS ARE DOUBLING THEIR MONEY.

By the Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—Victorious in three of the first four games, the Cincinnati Reds were out today to take the fifth contest of the world's series, postponed yesterday, when a downpour of rain soaked the Comiskey field to such an extent that playing was impossible.

Indications from the White Sox camp today were that Manager Gleason's pitching selection was to be Claude Williams, who was beaten in the second game of the series at Cincinnati 4 to 2. It was possible, however, that Manager Gleason would make a last minute switch and send Bill James into the fray in an effort to stop the Reds.

Manager Moran's pitching choice seemed to lie between Red Eller, who has been held in reserve, and Reuther, who defeated the Sox in the opening game at Cincinnati.

Although the White Sox have made a disappointing showing in the series, there has been no falling off of interest. The tickets are in as great demand today as ever and ticket scalpers with box seats in their possession are asking $10 for a seat costing $5.50.

The betting odds have undergone a big shakeup as a result of the Cincinnati victories and the supporters of the White Sox are asking odds on whatever wagers they make.

BALL CLUB MEETING ON TOMORROW EVENING

All those who have heretofore participated in the effort to organize a permanent baseball association in Ada, and all others interested in the same are urged to be present at another meeting in the district court room tomorrow (Tuesday) evening at 8:30 o'clock. The committee appointed to look after grounds and otherwise investigate prospects are ready to report and will have something interesting to say. Be

With the advice and urgent insistence of the official members of his church Rev. Wallace M. Crutchfield, pastor of the Methodist church in this city is leaving for a brief vacation this afternoon. He will spend a few days at the Confederate Reunion and there will also be a reunion of the families of both Mr. Crutchfield and his wife in Carrollton, Georgia, this week. The visit also includes Nashville and Emory Universities during his trip east. He is to be the recipient of a banquet at Vanderbilt where he was once a very famous football star.

J. A. Harden, who lives on South Broadway this city, owns a farm in the heart of the race riot infected district of Arkansas. He was not surprised at the news of the uprising there, for it has been expected for some time. Mr. Harden has a son living there now.

New Departures in the Trousseaux

The little company of fine fabrics for underthings which women usually consider when the trousseau must be planned include batiste, nainsook, wash silk, satin and crepe-de-chine. But crepe georgette had only to knock at the door and it was admitted to this charming company; the sheerest and daintiest, but the least practical member of it. However, it is there among the others and destined to stay, for in spite of its delicacy it is not fragile. This is one of the new departures in the styles for underthings. Another is the use of colors instead of white in materials and printed as well as plain patterns.

For the purpose of decorating, lingerie laces, ribbons and needle work of various kinds have not found any rivals. Little chiffon roses find a place on the sheerest garments and narrow ribbons are used in frills and shirings on them. But these are for luxurious and little-used garments. On those that are more dependable, rosettes and bows that can be pinned on and ribbons that can be easily taken out or put in, with the usual lingerie laces and stitchery, are used. Not all undergarments are frilly and lace—there are many very plain things, simple and tailored, that content themselves with hem-stitching and perhaps a single prim little bow for decoration.

But not to this class belong the night dress and envelope chemise shown in the picture. Batiste and all the silks available for undergarments are to be had in printed designs similar to that used for these two pretty garments that are the glory of the trousseau. Here they are made of flowered wash silk, with frills of lace about the neck and sleeve openings and frills of ribbon about the bottom. Pretty bow knots made of shirred ribbon, having chiffon roses set in them, are set on the front of both the night-dress and the chemise. Light pink is the favorite color for undergarments but other colors are used. The sheerest fabrics are not often chosen in white, but cottons and silks that are to be often laundered are better in white than in colors. Batiste in light pink stands tubbing well and has made an important place for itself in American made lingerie.

LEADERS IN HARVARD-PRINCETON CLASH

Capt. Murray of Harvard, above, and, inset, Capt. McGraw of Princeton.

One of the hardest fought battles of the 1919 grid season is looked for when Harvard and Princeton clash Saturday, November 8, in Palmer stadium, in their annual football melee. Capt. Hank McGraw, at tackle, is a tower of strength on the Princeton team and is counted on to star both on the offensive and defensive for the Tigers. Captain Murray, Harvard quarterback, has won praise by his keen generalship in directing the Crimson attack so far this season.

SCIATIC PAINS QUICKLY RELIEVED

Keep Sloan's, the World's Liniment handy to allay aches

THOUSANDS of men and women, when the least little rheumatic "crick" assails them, have Sloan's Liniment handy to knock it out. Popular a third of a century ago—far more popular today.

That's because it is so wonderfully helpful in relieving all external aches and pains—sciatica, lumbago, neuralgia, overstrained muscles, stiff joints, weather exposure results. A little, all that is necessary, for it soon penetrates without rubbing to the sore spot. Leaves no mess, stained skin, clogged pores. A bottle today is a wise precaution. Keep it handy.

All druggists—35c., 70c., $1.40.

DEMOCRATS HOPE TO BEAT HARRELD

THINK IT WILL BE EASY JOB A YEAR FROM NOW; DEFEAT CHARGED TO APATHY IN DEMOCRAT RANKS.

By News' Special Service

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 11.—Opinion is somewhat diversified as to the elements contributing to the success of the republican candidate, J. W. Harreld, in the congressional race of the fifth district over his opponent, Claude Weaver, in a district that normally is 5,000 democratic. As a matter of fact only about a 30 per cent vote of all parties was cast in the primary election and the final election. This may have explained that some indifference was felt on both sides. It was an off-election.

It was expected that the two northern counties, Payne and Logan, would give the republican candidate majorities; that the four southern counties, Murray, McClain, Garvin and Cleveland, would give majorities to Weaver, and that Oklahoma county would be the real battleground. Here it was the last four days of the campaign were spent by both candidates working harder than any other place in the district.

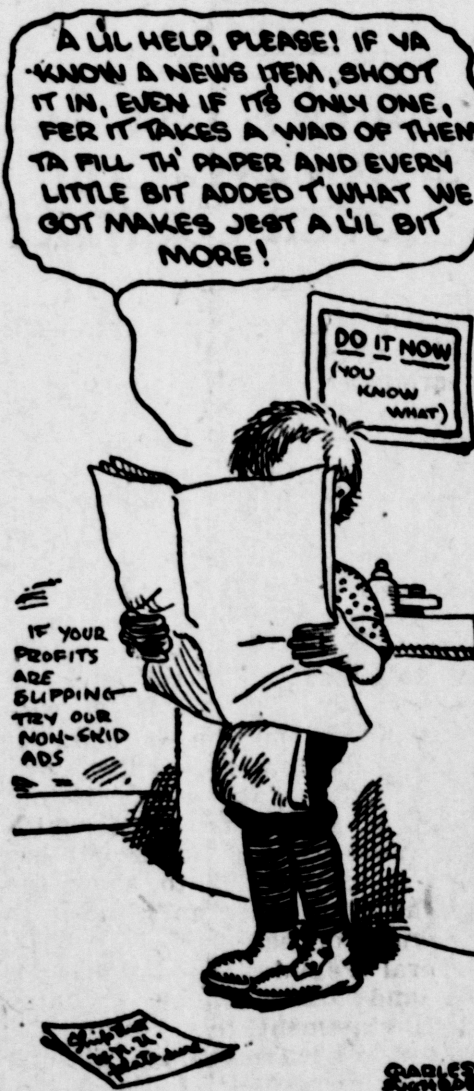

Democrats claimed the republicans made the campaign as opposed to the league of nations, but with reservations. This was not denied. The local society of Friends of Irish Freedom, probably a majority of them democrats, supported the republican candidate from a league of nations standpoint. Weaver was an exponent of the league of nations as promulgated by the President, Ben Lafayette, chairman of the state democratic committee, does not agree that Weaver's defeat is a reflection on the league.

The democrats claim they were unable to get the vote out, which is no doubt true. Returns show it was hard to get anything like the possible vote at all. It was also said that the republicans had plenty of money, which is also denied by them. They do admit they had hard working organizations. Over-confidence very likely helped in the defeat of the democratic candidate. However, the promise is made by the democrats that they will redeem the district to their side in the election to come a year hence.

Aviator Falls From Airplane-- Nothing to Say

By the Associated Press

OLATHE, Kan., Nov. 10.—It does not take W. W. Ferguson long to tell about his almost fatal plunge from a falling airplane into the ocean near Miami, Fla. In writing to his mother of his experience Ferguson states that there is absolutely nothing to tell. He has no recollection whatever of the experience, except that he remembers the plane started to fall and that he tightened his belt—then lapsed into a state of coma. He was picked up unconscious from the ruins of the plane and regained his mental powers shortly after being placed in a hospital. The pilot was instantly killed.

Since the accident, Ferguson informed his mother, physicians have looked him over thoroughly and declare he is none the worse for it. He recently married. The accident followed his return from France where he saw much service as a marine aviator without any mishaps. The aviator's mother is Mrs. S. E. Ferguson of Olathe.

PRODUCE TO END LABOR TROUBLES ADVISES WOMAN

By Florence King
(President National Woman's Association of Commerce.)

There is but one way to cut the high cost of living and that is to produce.

The law of supply and demand is not a man-made law and no man made resolution can, in my opinion, change the operation of that law.

The law of supply and demand is working overtime to catch up with the markets that have been closed to it because of war. That law is as inevitable as the movement of the stars in the heavens.

Everywhere we see signs of wanting to tear down things. There are many things that need tearing down but let us have something ready to put in their place.

Holds Up Procession.

We must work with the machinery in hand in many cases. Human nature is rather fixed and it cannot be changed overnight. Therefore the man who helps to show up any line of business helps to slow up all.

He is like the auto driver who "kills his engine" in the middle of a long line of traffic and causes all to stop for him.

So I say let us go forward with care. The "full dinner pail" is still "the paramount issue," and it always will be until such time as production and consumption are regulated in a far distant way than now. But we are living in the now and must govern ourselves accordingly. I say it is the time for the women to come forward and tell each man over whom she has influence or with whom she shares the pay envelope to stay in the hiring line and produce as he never produced before.

Urges Mediation.

But there is another field of women—those women who are the husbands of the men who hire labor. Now is the time for them to take their place in the world events and make their voice heard or there will come tumbling down about them something worse than war. Worse to them for their paths have been comparatively easy.

Now is the time for such women to say to their men: "Meet those workers half way; meet them perhaps a little more than half way. You will feel better for it and after all that is the big thing."

Yes, Mr. Hired of Labor, if you will just meet the worker half way you will play a better game of golf next Saturday afternoon; the sunset that closes the game will look prettier to you than it ever looked before; you will look your minister straighter in the eye than you ever looked at him before because the world will have become a better place to live in. It is up to the women. Will they open the door and take their place—that of right counsel, which dropping a paper in the ballot box can never give them?

Heartburn, heaviness in the stomach, bloated feeling, coated tongue, bad breath, dizziness and vertigo (blind staggers), quickly relieved by Prickly Ash Bitters. People who have used it say they can eat heartily without misery where before they tried it the most healthful food seemed to get them out of fix. Price $1.25 per bottle. adv

ESPIONAGE LAW UPHELD BY THE SUPREME COURT

By News' Special Service

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—The supreme court today held that congress did not exceed its authority in enacting the espionage law.

The action was taken in upholding the decision of lower courts against Jacob Abrams and others who were convicted of circulating revolutionary and disloyal leaflets in English and Yiddish in Manhattan.

The leaflets published in August, 1918, in general urged the American workers to overthrow the government and join in the Russian soviet. In making the decision the court indicated a strong sentiment in favor of upholding the department of justice in its campaign against revolutionists.

The decision was seven to two. Justices Holmes and Brandeis dissenting in a few particulars. Sentences of 20 years were imposed.

MISS ROSE TOBIAS MARRIED SUNDAY

ONLY FAMILY AND MOST INTIMATE FRIENDS WITNESS MARRIAGE CEREMONY IN OKLAHOMA CITY.

Cards are out announcing the marriage of Miss Rose Tobias, of this city, to Mr. Erle D. Shierk, at the Lee-Huckins Hotel, Oklahoma City, last Sunday morning at 11:30 o'clock.

This is the happy consummation of a courtship that has extended over a period of many months, and the many friends of Miss Tobias in this city join the hosts in wishing that the union just invoked may prove to be one of compatibility and that the newly wedded couple may attain a long life of happiness and prosperity.

The news is not acquainted with the groom, but the friends of the contracting parties inform us that he is a young man of inestimable virtues and that his record is without a blemish. He is a native of Illinois, a graduate of Knoxville High School, St. Albans College and other educational institutions.

When the war came on Mr. Shierk enlisted with the air service and was an instructor in that department and was located at Kelly Field, San Antonio. He also did service at Fort Sill, this state. Since the disbandment of the army he has been traveling for the Standard Paint & Lead Works of Cleveland, Ohio.

Miss Rose Tobias needs no introduction at our hands to the people of Ada and Pontotoc county. She came here with her parents nineteen years ago. At that time Rose was a mere tot, but her excellent demeanor and fine characteristics, inherited from a long line of honorable and upright progenitors, has made her most popular in these parts.

Mr. and Mrs. Tobias, for all these years, have been engaged in the mercantile business in this city, and the business operations of that company are synonymous with the civic growth and development of the city of Ada.

By arrangement for convenience the wedding took place in the Lee-Huckins Hotel in Oklahoma City last Sunday morning at 11:30 o'clock. Rabbi Blatt officiating, and with only parents, relatives and close friends of the family present. It is reported that the ceremony was a most beautiful one and that all interested are happily reconciled to the marriage.

They left for Muskogee yesterday for a short stay, after which they will go East for the holidays.

Too much cannot be said to attest to the high regard in which Miss Tobias was held by her many friends in this city, and while they congratulate her upon this happy event, possibly the greatest that comes to one in a lifetime, they regret to give her up and will miss her greatly in the social circles. With this couple go the best wishes of the News and her great number of friends in these parts.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Teacher of English Bible in the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)
(Copyright, 1919, Western Newspaper Union)

LESSON FOR NOVEMBER 16

WITNESSES OF CHRIST'S GLORY.

LESSON TEXT—Luke 9:28-36.
GOLDEN TEXT—This is my beloved Son: hear ye him.—Mark 9:7.
ADDITIONAL MATERIAL—Matt. 17:1-8; Mark 9:2-8; 11 Peter 1:16-18.
PRIMARY AND JUNIOR TOPIC—Peter and John with Jesus on the mountain.
SENIOR AND ADULT TOPIC—The glory of Jesus Christ.

While it is true that in this lesson the disciples are witnesses of Christ's glory, the full truth is that the manifestation of Christ in glory was to give to the discouraged disciples a foregleam of the Messianic Kingdom. The hopes of the disciples were crushed when Christ announced his death on the cross. They were unable to see how victory could issue from death.

Jesus took with him Peter, James, and John, and went into the mountain to pray. His chief aim in retirement was to get the disciples apart into a state of receptivity so that he might show them the method of the Kingdom. Before going to the mountain he declared that there were some standing in his presence who would not taste of death till they should see the Son of Man coming in his Kingdom (Luke 9:27; Matt. 16:28). That their drooping spirits might be revived and their confidence restored, he is transfigured before them. Two men from the upper world are sent to converse with him about his approaching death in Jerusalem (v. 31)—the very thing about which the disciples refused to talk.

Then, too, God's own voice was heard in words of approval of Christ's course, directing them to hear the Master. Surely they cannot doubt his ability now to carry into execution his kingdom plans. The purpose, then, of the transfiguration is to give the disciples a foregleam of the coming Kingdom, to enable them to see the Kingdom in embryo. That this is true is not only shown by the context and circumstances, but by the inspired interpretation of one who was with him and knew all that happened. Peter said, "For we did not follow cunningly devised fables when we made known unto you the power and coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, but we were eye witnesses of his majesty, for he received of God the Father, honor and glory when there came such a voice to him from the excellent glory. This is my beloved Son in whom I am well pleased; and this voice we ourselves heard come out of heaven, when we were with him in the holy mount. And we have the word of prophecy made more sure; whereunto ye do well that ye take heed, as unto a lamp shining in a dark place, until the day dawn, and the day-star arise in your hearts (2 Peter 1:16-19 R. V.). To those who believe in the inspiration of the Bible these words are final. Let us therefore note the outstanding features of the Kingdom as displayed in the transfiguration.

I. Jesus Christ the Glorified King on Mount Zion (v. 29).
The glorified King on this Mount was intended to symbolize the Messianic Kingdom when Christ returns to the Mount of Olives in Jerusalem (Zech. 14:4-17). This is still in the future, and will be literally fulfilled.

II. The Glorified Saints With Christ (vv. 30, 31).
1. Moses, who was, once denied an entrance into Palestine, appears now in glory, representing the redeemed of the Lord who will pass through death into the Kingdom. Many thousands of the redeemed have fallen asleep and at the coming of the Lord shall be awakened to pass into the Kingdom.
2. Elijah, now glorified, represents the redeemed who shall pass into the Kingdom through translation. Many shall be living upon the earth when the Lord shall come, and shall without dying be changed and thus pass into the Kingdom (1 Cor. 15:50-53; 1 Thess. 4:14-18).

3. They talk of the very thing which the disciples refused to believe, namely, the death of Christ.
[II]. Israel, in the Flesh, in Connection With the Kingdom, Represented by Peter, James and John (v. 28).
Israel shall be called from their hiding place among all nations of the earth and shall be gathered to Jesus Christ the King, as the central people in the Kingdom (Ex. 37:21-27).

1. Peter proposes to build three tabernacles (v. 33). The Feast of Tabernacles looked forward to the glorious reign of Christ. Peter caught a glimpse of the significance of the transfiguration. His proposition showed that he thought of the Feast of Tabernacles, and therefore of the Millennium.
2. The divine voice (v. 35). At this time God himself uttered his words, assuring them that this one in glory was his Son Jesus Christ.

IV. The Multitude at the Foot of the Mountain (vv. 37-43).
This is representative of the nations which shall be brought into the Kingdom which shall be established over Israel (see Isaiah 11:10-12). The people here were grievously oppressed by the devil. There are times when the devil is especially active in his oppression of men. About the time of Christ's first coming he did his best to harass men. Just before Christ's coming again he will be especially active, for he knows that his time is short.

One Lump Payment or Extended Payments? WHICH?

The method of payment does not concern us. Why should it concern you?

What interests us, what interests Mr. Edison, is to have you enjoy the three-million-dollar gift of music which comes with

The NEW EDISON

"The Phonograph with a Soul"

If you want to know how other people pay for their New Edisons, we'll tell you.

Some buy for cash. Others, who can well afford to buy for cash, take the partial-payment plan; they feel that this accommodation is a worth-while privilege. Some dispose of the cost with a few large payments. Others make the payments small, and spread them out.

In other words, there is no set rule. Come in, select your model. Tell us how you would like to pay for it. That's all.

ENGLISH RAILWAY STRIKE AIDS APPETITE

By the Associated Press

LONDON, Oct. 15.—The great railway strike brought one blessing, enforced exercise for many London workers who rarely take any. Thousands of business men and women derived benefit from the necessity of walking to and from their offices.

Big appetites were the immediate result in the case of Londoners forced by the railway strike to walk to work. But when the ravenous walkers sat down to lunch they found that the strict rationing regulations made their appetites somewhat of a mockery. Rationing was enforced even more rigidly during the strike than in wartime. Only tiny portions of meat could be served, one piece of bread was the limit for each customer, it was difficult to get milk with coffee or tea, and in most places no sugar could be had at all. Saccharine tablets, which most Englishmen detest, were the only "sweetening" obtainable.

To keep the population supplied with food was the most important problem of the government. Two men and a woman were entrusted with this vital task. G. H. Roberts, the food controller, who arranged for food to be brought into the country; Sir Phillip Nash, who saw to its distribution, and Miss Eleanor Hopwood, who was given the job of feeding London. When Miss Hopwood took over the task of seeing that food available for the metropolis was equitably distributed, her message to Londoners was "Don't Worry." They didn't.

According to government officials, the leaders of the railway strike forgot to allow for motor transport. England now has thousands of big, powerful trucks able to undertake all the essential transport of the nation.

"Eight years ago," one official declared, "the railwaymen's chance of starving the nation into submission may have existed, but it certainly does not exist today. The Lorry has broken the strike."

There was no scarcity of men needed to drive the lorries. A host of demobilized soldiers who learned the trick in France quickly responded to the call for driver volunteers.

LOOKING FOR CAT.

Little Paul, age seven, and his aunt were playing with the cat when it ran under the buffet. Stopping down his aunt said: "I can see only his hind quarters." Paul ran to the other end of the buffet and looking under exclaimed: "Oh, I can see its head quarters."
